Some would quiet their consciences with the idea of a purchase. Contemptible expedient, indeed! When the provisions of a liberal treaty are presented to Congress, they at once demur. Gentlemen Senators with a per diem, can spend the greater part of a session in canvass speeches, but when scalled upon for Indian appropriations, begin to talk of government economy, and are wonderfully selicitous of the dear people's money! It is to be hoped the appropriations they do receive will benefit the Indians more than they have in many instances heretofore, and that they will be greatly increased.

The physicians, or medicine-men, as they call them, form a conspicuous class among their chief men, and the deluded natives rely with the utmost confidence in these wholesale quacks With them, frightful incantations, and the noise of the "Gourd-shell Rattle" are a panacea for every disease; but what accomplishes most in their system, that is, diet, is perhaps the redeeming feature in the practice of a certain other class who are gaining, in these latter days, considerable favor with their little pills. The influence of these medicine-men is one of the chie obstacles in the way of those who labor for their improvement.

"There are four ways" to obtain the service: of a medicine-man, "sometimes attended with SUGAR-Brown, a good deal of foolish ceremony," which, for the benefit of the curious, I will insert in full from a correspondent of the "Dakota Friendi"
